Project Planning

The Goodwill Visit was planned in a few months in advanced before the actual date. Planning includes activities that will encourage the fellowship among the members of both clubs as well as the exchange of cultural ideas among the members. At the planning stage, both clubs communicated via skype and social media in the planning of the Goodwill trip in order to make it a fruitful one. Itinerary and schedules are planned in advance in order for both clubs to scrutinized and come up with the best itinerary that would encourage strong fellowship as well as promote Rotaract to the public. A community service project was also planned for the Goodwill Visit. The community service project was a joint goodwill community service between three Rotaract Clubs (Rotaract Club of Beitou, Rotaract Club of Pudu and the Rotaract Club of Penang).

Project Execution

The Goodwill Visit was carried out right after the APRRC 2013. The Rotaract Club of Pudu members were taken on a cultural tour by the Rotaract Club of Beitou in Taipei. The Rotaract Club of Pudu members were exposed hands on to the cultural differences of both countries while building fellowship with the Taiwanese Rotaractors. Apart from that, the joint community service project as part of the Goodwill Visit was also carried out. The project was in the form of collecting receipts from the public in order to donate the receipts to an organization. The organization collects receipts from the public and if the number of the receipt is picked by the government, they would receive a portion of funds. The funds received for the winning receipt would then be channeled to the needy elderly in Taiwan that has been neglected. Rotaractors from both Malaysian clubs (Rotaract Club of Pudu and Rotaract club of Penang) was split into groups of three to five. Each group was joined by a member of the Rotaract Club of Beitou. We were taught the correct phrase to speak to the public in mandarin.

This community service has not only encouraged the fellowship among the Rotaractors, but it has also encouraged public awareness of Rotaract and its goals.

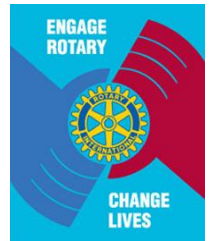

The Goodwill Visit has achieved one of the purposes of Rotaract, which is to “promote better relations between all people worldwide through a framework of friendship and service”. Building strong ties with Rotaractors not only locally as well as worldwide and working together to serve the community is in line with the Rotaract tagline “Fellowship through Service”.

Project Impact

The project has made an impact on the participating members of the Rotaract Club of Pudu, by understanding the cultures of another country as well as building strong relationship and friendship with Rotaractors abroad. Non participating members were also exposed to the culture through a presentation made by the participating members after the event. The event has also increased the awareness of the club by the postings of pictures in social media such as facebook and the Rotaract Club of Pudu’s official Facebook page. This has encouraged new members and the public to see the fellowship and fun side of Rotaract at an international level.
